

Year 12 A Level Literature

English Literature B

Knowledge of crime genre is tied together and assessed by applying to unseen extracts. NEA deadlines are for the end of Year 12.

NEA completion

Unseen
Extracts
NEA

Crime
NEA

Term 6

Students begin to make personal choices about coursework texts and use key critical lenses from the anthology in order to create critical questions or recreative writing options.

Theory and Independence

Atonement
NEA

Crime
NEA

Term 5

Term
3

Elements
of Crime

The Murder of Roger Ackroyd &
unseen
extracts

Term
4

Elements
of Crime

Rime of the Ancient Mariner Atonement

The Golden Age of Crime Fiction

Students begin with The Murder of Roger Ackroyd as a grounding for crime fiction – applying the same analysis and tenets of the genre to a range of unseen extracts.

Diachronic Elements of Crime

A modern novel (Ian McEwan's Atonement) is introduced to consolidate and develop understanding of the genre and how to write better informed arguments.

Othello
Death of a Salesman

Aspects of Tragedy

Term
2

Othello
Keats

Aspects
of Tragedy

Term 1

Writing Tragedy

A close focus on writing skills and how to plan and engage A level style essays with a clear line of argument for AO1. A focus on dramatic techniques is supported by beginning Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman.

Tragic conventions and tropes

Students use existing knowledge of Shakespeare and tragedy from GCSE and look at how that applies to study at A Level. Students begin by looking at Shakespeare's Othello and the poetry of John Keats.

Year 13 A Level Literature

English Literature B

Drawing together all elements of the course and applying best practice to essay writing and recall of key context and narrative.

Feedback and Practice

Exams

All exam texts

Revision
of key texts

Term 5

The Murder of Roger Ackroyd
Atonement

Novel
Revision
and retrieval

Term
4

Tragic play texts

Drama
revision

Term 3

Othello and Death of a Salesman

Embedding dramatic techniques and critical contextual theory into responses in order to produce best practice for writing paper 1 essays.

Memory and Key Moments

Ensuring the ability to call upon any argument at any time by ensuring knowledge of the longer prose texts is completely assured.

Term
1

Crime: Connecting Texts

Comparison s using all texts for Paper 2

Term
2

Linking Texts

Keats and Death of a Salesman

Links and Comparison

Focusing on exam skills and application of the critical anthology to responses in order for critical writing and analysis.

Exam Practice and Connecting the Comparable

Time to refine exam practice. Using existing knowledge of crime texts in order to address the demands of the elements of crime paper.

Year 12 A Level Language and Literature

Students will continue their study of 'Dramatic encounters' exploring the significance of conflict in drama, utilising their knowledge of context (AO3). NEA deadlines are for the end of Year 12.

NEA completion

Dramatic encounters
A streetcar named Desire

Making connections
NEA

Term 6

Students begin to make personal choices about coursework texts and use existing knowledge and understanding to develop lines of argument and make connections between fiction and Non-fiction texts

Theory and Independence

Dramatic encounters
A Streetcar named Desire

Making connections
NEA

Term 5

Term 3

Remembered places

Imagined worlds

Term 4

Remembered places

Imagined worlds

Non-fiction and Fiction

Students will study a variety of non fiction texts with the focus on how Paris is presented. Students will also begin their study of 'The lovely bones' with a specific focus on point of view and genre.

Students continue their study of both non-fiction and fiction, honing their skills of analysis (AO2) and structuring A level style responses.

Carol Ann Duffy

Poetic voices

Term 2

Carol Ann Duffy

Poetic voices

Term 1

The forms and functions of poetic voices

Comparing poetic voices

A close focus on writing skills and how to plan and engage A level style essays with a clear line of argument for AO1 as well as a clear comparative approach (AO4)

Students use existing knowledge of poetry from GCSE and look at how that applies to study at A Level. Students begin by looking at a collection of poems by Duffy

Year 13 A Level Language and Literature

English Literature B

Drawing together all elements of the course and applying best practice to essay writing and recall of key context and narrative.

Feedback and Practice

Exams

All exam texts

Revision
of key texts

Term 5

The Lovely bones
A streetcar named Desire

Revision
and retrieval

Term
4

Poetic voice

Remembered places
Paris

Term
3

Revision and comparative responses

Embedding comparative techniques in written responses using the texts already studied for A Level

Memory and Key Moments

Ensuring the ability to use key terminology that is completely assured to aid with analysis and development of arguments.

Term
1

Writing about society
The Great
Gatsby

Comparative responses

Term
2

Writing about society
The Great
Gatsby

Imagined worlds/Drama tic encounters revision and retrieval.

Re-creative writing and commentaries

Time to refine exam practice. Using existing knowledge of the poetry texts and non-fiction texts studied, students focus on structuring comparative responses. Students also begin their study of 'The Great Gatsby' with the focus of 'recreative' writing.

Commentaries and analysis

Continued development of re-creative writing and analysis of your own language and structure choices. Students will also revisit the texts studied in year 12, focusing on skills and development of analytical response.