Dear Parent or Carer

It has been brought to my attention today that Kent Police have put out a warning regarding a website named BADOO which young people are using. I am told that the Police have said they have information that this site is also being used by a paedophile group.

The website is used anonymously so any young people using it will not necessarily know the identities of people they are talking with. Information I have about the site suggest that it is predominantly a dating site so may be more likely to be accessed by older students.

Please speak with your son or daughter this evening to warn them that they should not use anonymous chat rooms. I will ask staff to speak with students regarding this tomorrow.

This information has come to me via another school and not directly from the Police. I would normally act on first-hand information only but in this case I believe that the potential danger posed to our students warrants this alert to you and your sons and daughters.

Yours sincerely
